Building Laborers Strike Is Peacefully Settled

Agreement Signed Covering Long Term Which Guarantees Trade From Further Trouble....Workmen on Sewers Not Included.

The Builders' Laborers' strike was settled last night, the agreement signed this morning and this afternoon work is going forward on nearly every building in the city.

The terms of the settlement are in the nature of a compromise, the men working on buildings getting $2.25 for nine hours until April 1st next year, when the wages will be $2.25 for eight hours. The builders exchange agrees to employ union men only and the union agrees to not engage in any sympathetic strike.

The sewers are left out of the calculation altogether. Practically speaking it means that the union will not claim any jurisdiction over the sewer work; that the employers on the trunk sewer are free to employ whom they like at whatever they choose to offer and that the union men are free to go to work there if they choose to do so.

On the city sewers, the men have the assurance of the commissioners that they will pay whatever wages the builders exchange settled on and they will therefore expect the $2.25 for nine hours and the $2.25 for eight hours next year.

No mention was made either pre or con of the sidewalk or water pipe work and it is naturally presumed that this class of work was not to be included.

The settlement was made in the rooms of the building exchange in the Heinrich block last night. At 9.30 a delegation from the builders' laborers union, empowered by the union to make a settlement, met the builders' exchange and submitted their demands, which the exchange members took under advisement and after a few alterations handed back for acceptance by the builders' laborers.

The following is the complete text of the agreement, which constitutes a settlement, so far as builders' laborers are concerned, for eighteen months:

1. The members of the builders' exchange agree to employ union men providing that the same are competent and that the union can supply the demand otherwise contractors to be free to employ non-union men to fill the vacancies.

2. Eight hours to constitute a day's work, and union men to work overtime when required at the same rate of wages, material to be on hand so that bricklayers' and plasterers can start work on time.

3. The minimum for building laborers shall be two dollars and twenty-five cents ($2.25) per day, wages for head modlar mixer to be two dollars seventy-five cents ($2.75) per day.

Wrecked on Atlantic

6. That any member of the union of the union, he is to receive the amount due him on the same day.

5. The members of the said union to receive the amount due them as wages at least every two weeks.

6. The members of the union agree to take up a collection among themselves.

7. The members of the builders' exchange agree that the authorized agent of the said union shall have the right during working hours to go on a job to settle any difficulties and to solicit applications.

8. This agreement is for building laborers only, and the union agrees not to interfere with sewer work.

9. This agreement shall take effect on April 1, 1907, and shall be good for one year from that date.

10. Until this agreement goes into effect the members of the said union agree to work for a minimum rate of twenty-five (25) cents per hour, and all agree to finish all old contracts at that rate.

Will Elect Council

First Election in Town of Vegreville Take Place on Monday

(Bulletin Special)

Vegreville, Sept. 21.—Ten months ago the prairie was being brushed for the townsite of Vegreville. On Monday, the 24th inst., the first mayor and town council will be elected.

Vegreville was duly proclaimed an incorporated town by the Lieutenant-Governor in council, on August 15, and no time was lost in getting out the necessary papers. Judging from the calibre of the candidates, Vegreville should be governed by an able, wide-awake council, who will have the interest of their town at heart.

For Mayor—Wm. Clements, of Clemons & Son; Wm. Parker, grain merchant.

For Alderman—M. A. Worth, of Worth and Holden; Chas. Gordon, contractor; Dr. A. H. Goodwin, of the Vegreville Land Co.; George Abbott, baker; Dan Trumpp, blacksmith; Ben Tetreau, of the Alberta Land Co.; Hope Alanson, of Alanson & Muir; Wm. McKenzie, of McKenzie & Fraser; A. M. Thompson, implement dealer; Jas. Reid, of Reid & Rose; J. C. Smith, tobacconist; Arthur Millar, of Millar & Co.

The uncertainty of the result is creating the keenest interest and the personal popularity of the respective candidates will no doubt decide his fate, although there is more or less of an undercurrent, caused by sectional feeling between the north and south ends.

The greatest event of the season will be the fourth annual fair at Vegreville on the 27th and 28th, held under the auspices of the Vermilion Valley and Beaver Lake agricultural society. The C. N. R. has reduced the fare until the price of a ticket should not enter into consideration and for a good day's or two days' outing, nothing better could be recommended. A look over the Vegreville district and into the town of Vegreville is alone worth the price of admission, and a good program of sports, racing, baseball, with all the agricultural exhibits should make the fair worth double the money. The Strathcona band will be in attendance to enliven the proceedings. The baseball match between Edmonton and Vegreville should draw a good crowd.

Vegreville has the nucleus of a good nine, with Milne, formerly of Edmonton, Fraser and Steeves of the Fort, Carr, of the old Cadet team, and Worth of Strathcona. With favorable weather a big attendance is assured.

Infantry Regiment

Petitions Being Circulated to Have Corps Established Here

"We the undersigned agree to serve in a Regiment of Infantry to be formed as a City Corps for the City of Edmonton and the Town of Strathcona, and when the formation of such corps is authorized we agree to become formally enrolled therein for the usual period of service under the Militia Act.

"In order that the duty of selecting and appointing officers may be properly carried out, each of the undersigned who has already held rank as an officer or who may be selected to act as an officer, loyalty agrees to serve in such rank or position in the Regiment as may be required by the district officer commanding and approved at headquarters, and that no influence shall be attempted to be brought to bear, directly or indirectly, to secure any particular rank or position in the regiment for any individual."

The above is an extract from a number of forms to be left at the banks and newspaper offices for signature by those who propose and desire to be enrolled in a City Infantry Corps.

Some time ago Col. E. B. Edwards, K.C., was in Ottawa and in an interview with Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, discussed the matter of forming a city regiment in Edmonton, who expressed himself in favor of the scheme.

The object of placing the lists in the above places is to secure the names of a sufficient number to form the regiment in order that these may be sent to the Minister of Militia with a petition which is to be also signed asking that the formation of the regiment be authorized.

The object of those at the head of the movement is to begin at once and get the master before the department of militia in good time for consideration.

Preliminary work of organization might begin at once and continued through the winter and active drilling operations by the beginning of April.

Premier Rutherford has expressed himself as in favor of the organization of an infantry regiment in Edmonton.

And American Troops May Be Landed to Restore Order in Cuba

(Bulletin Special)

Havana, Sept. 22.—It is understood here that Secretary Taft has sent a gloomy message to President Roosevelt saying that private reports from the interior are to the effect that a state bordering on anarchy prevails throughout almost the entire island, excepting being made to the section on the coast. It is known that Secretary Taft had decided absolutely not to send in the armed rebel forces to subdue the armed rebel forces. One other impression was that the man who stood in the vanguard of Canada and who enjoyed the confidence and respect, he might almost say the affection of the Canadian people, was Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Of Five Hundred Whale Hunters who Wintered in the Arctic

(Bulletin Special)

Ottawa, Sept. 22.—The remarkable event of five hundred men wintering in the Arctic with the loss of only one life is reported by Inspector Howard, head of the North-West Mounted Police post at Herschel Island, at the mouth of the Mackenzie river. Eight American whalers unprepared for a winter in the ice were caught in the Arctic last fall. It was feared great hardship with many deaths would result among the crews. Inspector Howard reports that up to May 3rd the only death that had occurred had been of a sailor suffering from consumption.

Innisfree, Sept. 20.—Gold has been discovered here. A C. N. ### Officials Go South

Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, F. W. Morse, vice-president, and the other members of the party left in their private car at 2.30 yesterday afternoon for Strathcona, where the "Canada" was attached to the regular southbound train on the C. E. & E.

Yesterday, in company with Mr. Bradley, deputy minister of railways, who came in over the C. N. R. in his private car Thursday, they spent a couple of hours driving about the city and then went to the city hall where they had an informal conference with the mayor, the commissioners and the city solicitor. The meeting was altogether unofficial, but during its course the railway men gave the civic chief ample assurance that the one clause in the agreement to which serious objection had been taken by any citizens would not be construed so as to hamper or injure the business of the city. Mr. Morse promised the mayor and commissioners to make his statement in print and did his best to have the city accept it while he gave the interview to the Bulletin.

ial train to Weyburn and Yellow Grass, returning to Moose Jaw and back to Winnipeg again over the main line. At Winnipeg they were joined by Mrs. Walker, Miss Walker and Miss Cassells, of Toronto, who will accompany them across the continent. From there they came on special train visiting Dauphin, Gilbert Plains, Kenora, Varda, Humboldt, Lloydminster, Kamsack and Vegreville, and Vermilion en route.

From Edmonton they will go south to Calgary, east to Medicine Hat, over the Crow's Nest line to Nelson and Greenwood, back to Macleod, north to Calgary, and over the C. P. R. main line to Vancouver and Victoria. After a side trip to Nanaimo and Ladysmith, Seattle and Portland, Oregon, will be visited. Here Mr. Walker will leave the private car, which will return to Montreal with Mr. Cassells and party, while Mr. Walker will go south to visit the San Francisco branch and return home through the Southern States after a trip of ten thousand miles.

"I have found business good, exceptionally good," said Mr. Walker. "There has been a general advance in land values, but I think that there has not yet been anything to endanger the future, at least so far as farm lands are concerned. I think that there is room for a little caution with regard to real estate prices in western cities. I find, for instance, that real estate in most western towns is relatively higher than in towns twice or three times the size in eastern Canada; in some places higher than in towns four times the same size. I do not say that they will not ultimately reach those values, but it may take some time and in the meantime some one may be severely punished. This is an unfortunate circumstance as it is likely to have an effect on western credit in the eastern market and the west is going to need a great deal of eastern money, for many years to come."

"Referring directly to Edmonton," said Mr. Walker, "as long as your city does not require over $100,000 or $200,000 a year the Canadian market is the best and there will be no difficulty in finding that much money." Whether Edmonton would be able to find the money to finance a street railway scheme, was a subject Mr. Walker did not care to discuss in point but he made a brief allusion to the fact that Winnipeg at the present moment was undertaking a large power plant scheme while the presence of typhoid in their city was an indication that they were behind in other public works of great necessity.

"In what way?"
 "In what way? well, now, let me show you. In the country between here and Vermilion, for instance, the real work of farming has not yet actually commenced. Practically speaking there are only a few thousand acres worked yet. In order to cultivate this land, to build fences and houses and buy machinery, stock and betterments of all kinds the farmer must have money. To build the sidewalks and other public works the municipalities must have a lot of money. The railroads being built must have money. In fact, to make this as intense a civilization as they have in Southern Manitoba or in Ontario, this country will require to borrow money for many years to come. The one hundred million bushels which is being raised in the west will not furnish anything like the capital that will be necessary. The money must come from the cast and the west must keep itself on good terms with eastern Canadians and European money markets."

"You mean, Mr. Walker, that we are mortgaging the future?" "Precisely."
 "And you think that the present price of real estate blinds the future for too long a time, but that the present price of farm land does not?"
 "Well," said Mr. Walker, "farm land has jumped from $30 or $40 an acre to $10 or over. I do not say it is too high, but I think it is unfortunate that the farmer is required to pay this price. Of course, if we take the case of a farmer from Kansas or Nebraska, who has sold out land that was no better for anywhere from $40 to $100 an acre, he will probably wonder why they should let him have Alberta land for that price, and he will buy it. But it is unfortunate that there should be any middleman. Of course this brings us to the question of the wisdom of the policies of governments in holding the land, a subject on which I am not prepared to speak. Grants have been given to railroad companies; these grants have been turned over to private companies, and the settlers are required to pay the cost."

The attention of all owners or occupants of property in the City is called to the following provisions of the Noxious Weeds Ordinance:
 "4. Every owner or occupant of land shall destroy all noxious weeds thereon, and if he makes default in so doing he shall be guilty of an offence, and on prosecution therefor by an overseer of the local improvement district or by an Inspector or other officer under this Ordinance, shall on summary conviction thereof be liable to a penalty not exceeding $1000.00 and costs." The necessity of enforcing this has been called to the notice of the Council of the Department of Agriculture with the object of the City co-operating with them in their endeavors to prevent the spread of these weeds from the Cities and Towns to the grain growing districts.

of securities offered is not too good. It is like a jug; when the jug is filled there is difficulty to dispose of the overflow. There are only a certain number of purchasers of municipal debentures; four or five life insurance companies, some loan and trust companies and concerns of that class. As long as the bulk of debentures offered is not larger than these concerns are ready to take off the market. Toronto will continue to be the best place to market western debentures, but when the bulk is too great they will have to go to London. In the old country market they will come against an immense mass of municipal and county bonds, mostly raised for the purposes of municipal ownership and which are not now bringing a very high price. Of course money has been very dear in London ever since the South African war. Consols, for instance, which sold for 112 before the war are now 87 and 88. These are no less valuable security than they were before, but conditions have changed. Money is dearer. And the vast amount of municipal debentures thrown on the market for use in municipal ownership undertakings has had the effect of reducing the rank of this class of securities from being the best, next to consols, to being third or fourth class."

"I do not care to be quoted as to the wisdom or policy of municipal ownership, such as of street railways, electric power plants, and so on, but I am free to state that there is such an immense amount of work that these western municipalities have to do along lines that are uncontestedly lines for public undertaking, such as sewers, waterworks, paving, sidewalk construction and such works, that if the municipalities do this work well they will find it plenty to do for many years to come."

"Referring directly to Edmonton," said Mr. Walker, "as long as your city does not require over $100,000 or $200,000 a year the Canadian market is the best and there will be no difficulty in finding that much money." Whether Edmonton would be able to find the money to finance a street railway scheme, was a subject Mr. Walker did not care to discuss in point but he made a brief allusion to the fact that Winnipeg at the present moment was undertaking a large power plant scheme while the presence of typhoid in their city was an indication that they were behind in other public works of great necessity.

"BLUNOZ"—THE SERGE OF SERGES
 "When first we made the 'Blunoz' story," said the President of the Canadian Woolen Mill, "we thought we had attained the scene of perfection, and that Canada could produce no better. But we found a way of making it better and better—methods which added to the cost, to be sure, but our customers, the Semi-Ready company agree to take all we make of the Blunoz even at the price of the Semi-Ready. The Blunoz serge suits are now sell at $29. The Blunoz serge is the prize of the Canadian woolen mills and is the first Canadian woolen product to proudly proclaim itself 'made-in-Canada'—Kelly & Moore, Agents.

Toronto and Montreal are the best markets as long as the bulk of securities offered is not too good.

It is like a jug; when the jug is filled there is difficulty to dispose of the overflow. There are only a certain number of purchasers of municipal debentures; four or five life insurance companies, some loan and trust companies and concerns of that class. As long as the bulk of debentures offered is not larger than these concerns are ready to take off the market. Toronto will continue to be the best place to market western debentures, but when the bulk is too great they will have to go to London. In the old country market they will come against an immense mass of municipal and county bonds, mostly raised for the purposes of municipal ownership and which are not now bringing a very high price. Of course money has been very dear in London ever since the South African war. Consols, for instance, which sold for 112 before the war are now 87 and 88. These are no less valuable security than they were before, but conditions have changed. Money is dearer. And the vast amount of municipal debentures thrown on the market for use in municipal ownership undertakings has had the effect of reducing the rank of this class of securities from being the best, next to consols, to being third or fourth class."

Strathcona.

Strathcona, Sept. 21.—The Strathcona Plaindealer of yesterday draws attention of citizens to the fact that officers of the Strathcona fire brigade are frequently complaining of irregularities by some citizens, which, while kindly meant, no doubt are embarrassing to the brigade.

Rubber coats and hats are often taken from the fire hall when an alarm of fire is sounded, by persons who are not members of the brigade, and, secondly, citizens often insist when their voluntary services are not necessary; consequently brigade work is greatly hampered and it therefore behooves the public to observe the motto that "discretion is the better part of valour."

A great many storekeepers were observed today taking down their projecting signs as by-law No. 156, which was passed at the council meeting on Tuesday evening comes into force on the 25th Sept.

Messrs. Parte and Daly expect to ship the Strathcona and Edmonton exhibits for the New Westminster fair tomorrow (Saturday).

Rev. Prof. Bryce, of the University of Manitoba, will preach at the morning service and Rev. Dr. Griffith, of Honan, China, at the evening service of the Presbyterian church on Sunday.

Mr. Will Fraser, of Fraser Bros., left for Innisfail yesterday where they are building an elevator for Mr. John Lineham.

On Tuesday Mr. John Carmichael received a telegram announcing the sad news of the death of his father, Col. A. Carmichael, of Spencerville, Ont.

The business men in town have unanimously agreed to close their stores at noon on Oct. 2nd—fair day.

The Laffleche Bros., of Brattleboro, Vt., have opened up a tailor shop on Whyte avenue.

Mr. C. F. Sharkey has purchased the Red Star livery and feed stable from Mr. P. Berube.

Mr. James Mason, of Birmingham, England, has arrived here and is to be Rev. W. R. George's assistant at Holy Trinity church.

Mr. Mason will have the pastoral oversight of Colchester, Cooking Lake and East Clover Bar under Mr. George's direction.

Dr. L. L. Fuller has returned from a vacation at the Coast.

Mr. George W. Nightingale paid a visit to Fort Saskatchewan this week.

Two special cars, the Canada and the Government car, arrived at the C. P. R. depot here today with General Superintendent Hays, of the Grand Trunk, and Vice-President Morse, of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mrs. J. R. Brooks, who last been visiting the rectory for a few weeks, returned to her home in Calgary yesterday.

No more granolithic walks will be laid this fall. It was the town council's intention to have another block laid, but Contractor Carter had contracts in Edmonton to fulfil first.

Strathcona Plaindealer states that the balance sheet of Strathcona public hospital, taken on Sept. 15th, showed total cash received from patients since the opening of the hospital on April 6th to Sept. 15th, to be $89430. During that period 99 patients were received and six deaths had occurred.

This evening a concert took place in the Ross hall, under the auspices of the Presbyterian church, the funds to be in aid of the new church now under construction. Mr. Franklin Pierce, jolly entertainer of the Jolly Joliet, was the feature of the evening, and the large audience were highly delighted.

OPEN FOR SETTLEMENT

Southern Alberta Ranchers at their meeting in Lethbridge in the spring, prepared a petition asking the withdrawal of certain lands from homestead entry. The petition was handled by John Herron, M.P., and he has received this reply from the deputy minister of the interior:

Dear Mr. Herron,—

The minister has had under consideration the matter of the petition which was submitted to this department some time ago by certain stockmen residing in the vicinity of Lethbridge with regard to the withdrawal from homestead entry of Big Bow and Little Bow River north certain lands in the district referred to until such time as the petitioners can limit their herds to the lands leased or owned by them. And I now beg to advise you that the request is one which it would not appear to be in the public interest to accede to. It may be pointed out that a considerable portion of the lands mentioned in the petition have been disposed of to actual settlers under homestead entry. And a large area has also passed from the control of the government either by sale or by grant to railway companies. Further the bulk of the remainder of the tract referred to is already covered by applications or for grants under the irrigation act. While the minister fully appreciates the importance of protecting the interests of the grazing industry within the district mentioned and is prepared to do anything reasonable in his power to do so, it is not considered that it would be advisable in view of a large number of incoming settlers who are desirous of securing holdings in this and other localities in southern Alberta to lock up from actual settlement such a large area of public lands as suggested in the petition.

Rubber coats and hats are often taken from the fire hall when an alarm of fire is sounded, by persons who are not members of the brigade, and, secondly, citizens often insist when their voluntary services are not necessary; consequently brigade work is greatly hampered and it therefore behooves the public to observe the motto that "discretion is the better part of valour."

There will be two teams of three men a side, each riding one horse and leading another horse with its "pack" load. One object is to test the best method of attaching the pack to the horse. The Canadians will back the virtues of the "diamond hitch" against the Queensland quick surcingle. Each man will pick his own horse from the stables of a London cab company, so as to get an absolutely strange horse for the test. Upon the back of each pack horse will be loaded one hundred weight of war material, and in each case enough supplies for three men for one week. The animals will be baited at an inn.

The teams will be as follows:

Captain Best, one of the survivors of the storming of the Kashmir Gate at Delhi in the Indian Mutiny; a frontiersman of great experience.

George Murry and Salvador Valda, two of the hardest of the scouts who did such estimable service in South Africa.

Roger Peacock, famous author, traveler, North West Mounted Police trooper, Indian fighter, Kondiak trail packer, explorer of the barren lands of Canada.

Captain Graham Hope, R.A., an old Himalayan shikari, frontier scout, hunter, and experienced caddo.

Unfortunately Mr. Peacock's third man sustained a severe internal injury at just-juts the other night.

All the competitors will be in the uniform of the Legion of Frontiersmen. The element of racing will be excluded; horsemanship is the main test.

James Hill as a Prophet

(London Advertiser)

Mr. James J. Hill, the railway magnate, dons the mantle of prophecy to warn Americans of the danger of a spendthrift course.

He declares that within twenty years the United States will contain 125,000,000 people, and that the wheat crop will not be sufficient for home consumption. Before the middle of the present century the population will be 200,000,000. What then, he asks, is to become of the millions crowding into its manufacturing?

By that time the mineral resources of the country will have been so nearly exhausted that the industries related to them will fall into a minor place, and he fears that manufacturing supremacy will have passed to the Orient, with its cheap labor. The cry will then be, "Back to the land." "National ideas must be re-adjusted," says Mr. Hill, "and agriculture placed in the forefront. There must be a national revolt against the worship of manufacture and trade as the only forms of progressive activity."

Mr. Hill's complaint is that "agriculture, in the most intelligent meaning of the term, is something almost unknown in the United States." There is no intensive cultivation, except in individual cases, but there is an steady process of exhaustion and deterioration which horrifies Mr. Hill when he thinks of the hundred million more people who will have to be fed in a few years.

The drift from the farm to the city aggravates the situation, and the growth of great urban communities is not a condition making for sound development.

In Canada, where the rural population, owing to the settlement of the west, is at present growing faster than the urban population, and where vast natural resources have been only touched, Mr. Hill's warning falls with less weight. We can look forward with some complacency to a time when the United States cannot raise food sufficient for its own needs. We have a productive area, capable of sustaining, even with our present methods of agriculture, a greater number of people than we can imagine will occupy the country.

A SPLENDID RECORD

British railways have long been regarded as model roads so far as the safety of passengers is concerned. This is the more surprising because the British roads operate through a densely settled country and their traffic is consequently enormously greater than even in the older settled portions of America. Despite the great number of trains operated and the speed at which they are run, the splendid roadbeds and equipment of the roads together with the vigilant regulations and supervision of the authorities reduces the danger to the minimum and accidents involving loss of life have been remarkably few in comparison to those on roads elsewhere in the world. Nowhere has the superiority of the British roads in this connection been more freely admitted than by the more reliable papers in the United States which have held up the British roads as examples which should be followed by the railway systems of their own country.

Despite the recent wrecks of the "steamship" express and of the "Scotch" express, the British roads continue to hold this distinction. A blue book has been issued by the board of trade which contains some very interesting statistics in the matter and shows by comparison to the total number of travellers how few are killed by the British roads.

In the 31 years ending with 1904 only one passenger was killed on the average in every 36,464,892 journeys made, and only one injured in every 1,127,464 journeys. Last year, when 39 passengers were killed—the highest number since 1889—the average of killed to passenger journeys was only one in 30,744,156, and the average of persons injured, one in 3,027,834.

This infinitesimal risk is really less than these figures indicate, since they take no account of the journeys made by season ticket holders.

Four collisions and derailments were responsible for 38 out of the 39 passengers killed last year. In 1904 only three passengers were killed, but the number injured was 138 greater than in 1905. Altogether, 1,099 persons were killed and 6,450 injured in railway accidents—figures which are below the average for the previous nine years.

The report also notes with satisfaction the diminishing frequency of accidents to railway servants. No engine driver was killed last year. Accidents to shunters had diminished from a nine years' average of one in 15 to one in 19 last year.

Last year 57 persons were killed while passing over level crossings. 263 trespassers met their deaths and 176 persons committed suicide on the railway, the highest number since 1896. Thirty-three passengers were killed and 46 injured by falling out of carriages while the trains were in motion.

Through coming into contact with electric "live" rails on the Lancashire, London and Southwestern, Metropolitan, Metropolitan District, and Northeastern railways, two persons were killed and 18 injured. In 1904, when only two of these railways were using electric power, eight persons were killed and 20 injured from this cause.

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT AND FEDERAL ELECTIONS

Under the heading of "Scandalous but Unscandalized," the Calgary Herald delivers itself of the following, which is copied with apparent approval by the local Conservative organ:

"The present entire lack of system in the preparation of voters' lists in Alberta is a scandal in the midst of a most scandalously indifferent community."

"This indifference is the worst feature of the whole business. There is not the slightest chance of the Rutherford government offering of its own motion to put a decent system in its place. The current condition of affairs suits their purposes far too well for them to think of altering it, unless a strong pressure of public opinion is brought to bear on the matter. As it stands at present, a short time before an election comes off, 'enumerators' are appointed from among the hungry hordes of hecklers who up to date have not yet had a look-in at the public trough. These gentlemen go forth and proceed to 'enumerate.' The majority of ordinary citizens would not know one of them from a bale of hay, and when, where, or how, they do their 'enumerating' remains one of the mysteries of the Grit committee rooms. As a result of their labors, certain lists of names are drawn up, which are facetiously known as voters' lists. They bristle with notations, but the chances are that the best known residents of the place are not on them at all. But it really cuts no ice whether a man's name is in or not. All he has to do is to swear it on in the polling booth on election day, and he has just as good a vote as any Pole or Rutherford among them."

The effect of this fusilade is spoiled by the circumstance that while it is directed against the Provincial government the subject which occasioned it is one with which the Provincial government has nothing to do. The attack is directed toward the Provincial government but the subject of the attack is the manner of conduct of federal elections. The government of Alberta has contended that this province was entitled to and has received all the rights, powers and privileges intended by the makers of confederation and has shown a disposition to exercise these rights and powers to the fullest extent. But to be informed that their jurisdiction extends even to the control of elections for the House of Commons will we fancy come as something of a surprise to Premier Rutherford and his colleagues. Such it might well be were the information from a less unreliable source than the Calgary Herald. Were such the case we doubt not a special session of the Provincial legislature would be called forthwith with a new redistribution bill rushed through and the number of members from Alberta to the House of Commons doubled or trebled before the meeting of parliament in November.

That any such action will be taken we have serious doubts, for clause 7 of The Alberta Act says:

"Until the Parliament of Canada otherwise provides, the qualifications of voters for the election of members to the House of Commons and the proceedings at and in connection with elections of such members shall, mutatis mutandis, be those prescribed by law at the time this Act comes into force with respect to such elections in the North-West Territories."

As between the Herald and Parliament, it is probable that the government, the public and the courts will acknowledge the authority of the latter and the Provincial legislature will not be called on to determine how and how many members of the Dominion Parliament shall be elected from Alberta. That the Herald should clash with the Act is not at all surprising. A journal so hard up for a complaint is likely to clash with anything.

To inform the electors that they are a "scandalously indifferent community" who would not know an enumerator "from a bale of hay," may be the Herald's revenge on the electors for their treatment of its friends last November, but it scarcely appears germane to the discussion of the merits or demerits of an electoral system.

As for the Federal election system which it misconstrues as the Provincial system; the Herald offers two criticisms: First that the enumerators do not do their work properly; and, second, that it does not matter whether they do or not.

Milling Industry in Edmonton

Wheat is the finest product of the soil. It has been the premier product of all the great nations of antiquity and like the course of empire has been to the west. The granaries of Egypt are the finest known to history and ever since Joseph saved stricken Egypt from famine by his wise foresight, wheat has been the staff of life. Compare the wheat producing and wheat eating nations with the rice eating nations of Asia and you have the physical basis for the difference in intellectual and moral power. It would follow then that the nation that produces the most and the best wheat must always stand high in physical and moral prowess.

The milling of wheat is an art that is as old as the race, and has passed through all the evolutions that man has made from the stone age, when he bruised his corn between two rudely shaped stones until the larger day of the present century.

This is possibly too flighty language to begin a story such as is to follow, but it expresses the thoughts that must come to the imagination of any one who will for a moment reflect what it means, that in a few years Canada will be the largest wheat producer in the world, and Canadian flour made in Canadian mills, will be used in the breadstuffs and confections of every civilized country, as well as the new countries emerging into nationhood in the East.

It is one of the principles of national economy that in the early stages at least all raw products should be manufactured where they are produced, and shipped only as finished products. The milling industry of this district is an application of this principle. The mills of the Edmonton district until last year were able to manufacture all the wheat produced in the district. The increased acreage and greater number of producers has increased the output so that this year there will be a surplus for export.

The representatives of the milling industry in Edmonton are the Dowling Milling Co. and the Alberta Milling Co.

The Dowling company was formed in 1899. At present it is under the capable management of Mr. A. B. Campbell, who has an extensive experience in the milling and grain trade.

The capacity of the mill is 200 barrels a day with elevators that have a storage capacity of 110,000 bushels.

All the supplies come from the Edmonton district and are manufactured into three grades, namely, the "White Rose," "Patent" and "Strong Bakers." Mr. Campbell states that the Edmonton wheat is a good milling wheat and that his mills are making good patents as Oggilvie's or the Manitoba mills. He especially recommends Red Fife and Turkey Red as the best milling varieties. He is favorably impressed with the Preston.

The output is mostly consumed in the city, surrounding country, and neighboring towns. Hallier and Aldridge use it exclusively in their pastry. It is worthy of notice that the home product of both mills can be purchased from 40 to 50 cents less than outside manufacture.

Mr. Campbell says his cook can make good bread from the flour from his mills as can be made with any other brand on the market and is willing to wager.

ALBERTA MILLING CO.

This company began in 1903 and was financed by local capitalists who had faith in the future of Edmonton as a milling center. They are all old-timers and are familiar with local conditions. The mill was built with a view to expansion of business and will be enlarged as business warrants.

The management is in the hands of Mr. C. M. Nairn.

He agrees with Mr. Campbell of the Dowling Co. that wheat this year will be bought on an export basis. Local dealers will require to be more rigid in grading the wheat offered for sale and dock more. This may lead to shipments by farmers.

Mr. Nairn states that it would be more profitable for the Alberta farmers to feed their wheat except the best grades, to cattle and hogs, than to market it at the prices the miller can afford to pay.

The company manufacture four grades of flour namely "Capital," "Superior," "Straight," and "X X X." A ready market is found for all the mill offal in the Kootenay Pacific and Quebec. Some flour is also shipped to Quebec. The sales amount to a car per day and the owners are satisfied with the success they have achieved. The bulk of the trade in flour is with the C.N.R. towns and along the C. & E. as far south as Macleod and west to the Coast. Considerable quantities are consumed in the city. Mr. C. W. Campbell uses it exclusively in his bakery.

Both Mr. Campbell and Mr. Nairn are emphatic in saying farmers are not careful enough in selecting their seed grain. Mr. Nairn advises a change of seed every two years. A number of farmers in a district could co-operate and get a car lot. The Alberta Milling Company are anticipating bringing in seed wheat from Brandon, and selling it at cost to farmers. In this way the strength and virility of the wheat will be maintained and increased.

It is gratifying to know that increased cultivation of the wheat lands produces a better milling wheat each year. Millers assert that Alberta wheat is improving each year, and annually a larger percentage of the yield grades No. 1 and No. 2.

It is sometimes alleged by farmers that there is a combine among the local millers. With the facilities for shipment at the disposal of the farmer he should be able to upset any such combine, as the farmer can also ship. But in shipping it is to be remembered that many considerations complicate the situation. It may be the grade is rejected when the shipper does not expect it, or it may be excessive docking. One car shipped by one of the Edmonton mills was docked 40 bushels. It is safe to say the average docking is from 3 to 4% per cent of the car lot.

Looking over the whole situation the future of the milling trade is bright and it should be able to handle the greater part of the home grown product.

Speaking of the Japanese market Mr. Campbell and Mr. Nairn thought there is a future for trade in that direction. When the western mills become large enough to manufacture a sufficient quantity of low grade flour to fill the orders that come from Japan, and also when the Japanese begin to use more high grade flour Mr. Campbell thinks Japan will not be a serious competitor with Canada until they find a market for mill offal which will take an indefinitely long period.

OTTAWA MILL BURNED
Ottawa, Sept. 21.—Ritchie's lumber mill at Aylmer, Quebec was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss is $30,000. Incendiarism is suspected. The Presbyterian manse and a large quantity of sawn lumber was destroyed. The insurance is $75,000.

Ottawa, Sept. 21.—The minister of justice will be in the city tomorrow to attend a meeting of the cabinet. It will be necessary to appoint at once, a judge for the supreme court, in place of the late Justice Sedgewick. The court meets on October 2nd, and it is possible that Chief Justice Fitzpatrick may not be able to sit on some of the cases. It is almost certain that the new judge will come from British Columbia. Justice Buff, of the supreme court of British Columbia, is said to be the first choice of the provincial, and he is therefore likely to get the position.

WRESTLING MEN IN TRAINING

Interest Growing in the Match For Tuesday Evening Next in

Thistle Rink

The wrestling match arranged for next Tuesday between Jack Downs and Jules Jensen is commencing to attract considerable attention in local athletic circles. Jensen is expected in town to-morrow. He is a stranger to most of the Edmonton followers of the wrestling game, but his reputation as a wrestler is a guarantee in any part of Alberta that there will be things done when he goes onto the mat. Downs was never in better shape in his life than he is at the present moment.

Blaichford, in the meantime, is busy training for his match with Young Bear and puts in a couple of hours hard work every day over at the Thistle rink. The Tuesday evening matches will be worth the time and money.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 20.—The customs dock was destroyed by fire yesterday. It contained 30,000 tons of merchandise, mostly German oil. The losses are estimated at $1,200,000. The origin of the conflagration is not known. Five clerks and seventy-five workmen have been arrested. Five firemen were injured. The dock and storehouse, erected by the government, at a cost of $400,000 were completely destroyed.

MICHIGAN BANK ROBBED

White Cloud, Mich., Sept. 20.—A real wild west raid was made on this village today when eight heavily armed men rode into the town and proceeded to rob two banks. The men, who were all masked, surrounded the building containing the New Bank and the R. G. Gannon & Sons Banks. Scores of people heard the commotion and approaching the bank were ordered away by the men working in the bank, who dynamited the vaults and safes inside. They secured four thousand dollars from the New Bank. The other party were unable to blow up the Gannon safe, although they drilled it. A posse is now pursuing the robbers.

Theatre at the Fort

Building Now Under Course of Erection.—Many Other Buildings Going Up.

Fort Saskatchewan, Sept. 21.—The Fort is soon to have a first class theatrical hall. Contractor T. M. Sullivan is nearing the completion of a two-story building with a 34 foot frontage and 100 feet deep. The street floor will be used as a barber shop, billiard and pool rooms, and the basement as a bowling alley. The theatre will occupy the entire second floor and will have a seating capacity of 600. The stage which will be fitted up with all the latest curtain raising and scenic apparatus, and as the whole theatre will be thoroughly up-to-date, the Fort people ought to get some of the best seats in the west. The proprietor, David Simmons, expects to have it ready by the first of October.

Williamson Bros. of Edmonton, are building a brick store on Ross street. They are already occupying the south portion with H. Atkinson as manager. The other half will be occupied by the Union Bank as soon as it can be got ready.

The town council has made war on the slot machine and the musical music of the music wheel and the clink of the rolling nickels will be heard no more in the land.

In the former Edmontonia met here are Percy Blois, formerly of the Queens Hotel, and Ira Peterley, some time ago foreman for W. H. Martin. Mr. Blois now owns the Mansion house and Mr. Peterley is conducting a very successful harness and saddlery business.

The building trade is quite active. Mr. Dubois of Tessier and Dubois, intends erecting a fine house, and Contractor Sullivan has built handsome residences for Messrs. Hagman and Peterley.

A Rancher Tells of the Progress of the British Colony

George Jordan, of Mosquito Ranch, Lloydminster, in conversation with a reporter of the Free Press, tells an interesting story of the progress of the British colony at Lloydminster. "In the time of the Boer war," said Mr. Jordan, "I acted as a civilian foreman of works to the Royal Engineers, and during the progress of the war I contracted fever. As I lay on my veranda in Natal, I thought often of the prairies of western Canada, which I traversed far and wide many years ago, and I thought that if I could only inhale once again the cold breezes of the north, I would be well. I consequently wrote a letter to the land department of the C. P. R., asking them to select me a quantity of land, part of which I could homestead and buy part. The C. P. R. chose for me land 20 miles north of the present town of Lloydminster, the land being of an exceedingly good quality. I had had correspondence with regard to the Barren colony some time before, and when it was proposed to take the all-British colony to Africa, I wrote to public men in England, deprecating the idea in the very strongest terms, being fully persuaded in my own mind that South Africa was no country for such an experiment. I had also written, from my personal knowledge of Canada, against any proposal to bring a large body of British people to any part of Canada, which was very remote from railways. I had, however, expressed the purpose, in case arrangements were ever completed to send a large body of people to some portion of the Northwest, into which a railway would soon be built to join the party and make the trip with them. I am grateful to have had some small part in altering the determination of the leaders of the men in charge, and in preventing the transportation of a large number of English farm people to Africa, in an attempt to establish a farm colony in that country, and in diverting them to Canada.

"Although the original settlement at Lloydminster was made by the British and the surrounding country settled by them, there is today no possibility of determining who the original settlers were, except by inquiry. You could not tell by the appearance of the farms, the British people having learned what the Canadians and Americans could teach them, and having adopted new methods when this was necessary. The Canadians and Americans are now intermingled with the British settlers, and I am glad to say that many of the farms that belong to British people who, when they came to Canada knew nothing whatever about farming, now look as well and the farmers are as prosperous as the farms and farmers of other nationalities. A strange thing about the British colonist is, that some of those whose success seemed most problematical, have succeeded the best. They are a queer people, the English, it seems that they need to be lectured before they begin to fight, but after they begin, they are apt to stay with it.

"Crops in the Lloydminster country, and in all the surrounding country, are good, and if in case, there is more or less of failure, the failure has been due to lack of proper cultivation of the soil. In the past, our people have often sown directly on the breaking, in many cases, and because they had good returns in very favorable years, they fancied that they would have good returns every year. Our farmers must learn to cultivate more thoroughly and more perfectly, if they are to have the assurance of a fair crop every year.

"I am frequently asked what the average quality of the land in the British colony is. In reply, I have stated that there is no section of the country where the land is more patchy than in our part. The good and bad land is mixed up together in a way quite extraordinary. There is a strip of very good land running transversely across the townships, and adjoining it is much land of inferior quality. All the land cannot be called the best, but in some respects is the best. I refer to the land having a black soil of a foot or so in depth. This soil matures its crops quickly and responds more quickly to agricultural effort than the better land having a surface soil of 30 or 40 inches. There are three classes of land in the country, the poor land, the good land, and the extra good. What I have always said, and still say, is that a farmer can either get a good land or the extra good; he does not get one of these, he gets neither at all. The men in Manitoba who got bad land thirty years ago are still poor, while the men who got good land are well-to-do or rich.

"There are any more homestead land in our district. For, there is some in every part of it, but it cannot be found easily. What the land hunter must do is to go to the district where he is to go to homestead, having fixed definitely in his mind in what part of the country he desires to locate. Having reached the particular region in which he desires to go, he should, he must stay there several days looking about him and enquiring of the setters, who will eventually tell him of some place of land upon which it may be possible for him to locate. Frequently, very fine homesteads are found in unlikely regions. There is, for instance, a long stretch of country between Fort Pitt and the mouth of the Athabasca, and much of it is sandy. But scattered through it are some fine choices, homesteads that a man could desire. The fact is, these homesteads are gold, and are in most cases such a disadvantage, since the result is that the man will be unable to sell, or to let, his land for many years to come.

LET EDMONTON FLOURISH

Mr. Editor:
The motto of old Glasgow was well adopted by Romanian just as Edmonton has followed the example of Glasgow with regard to the administration of public utilities. All good citizens desire that Edmonton may flourish. But they may differ widely and possibly differently, as to what constitutes a flourishing city. And they may differ, and probably do differ, as to what their duty is in helping on the prosperity of the city.

If to be growing rapidly is a sure sign of prosperity, Edmonton is prosperous. If to have tremendous advantages in the price of real estate to fit the requirements of the city is flourishing. If high prices for labor and materials for building high rents, indicate prices for building high rents, indicate a healthy economical state. Edmonton is in such a state.

If to be the most populous city on the continent is something greatly to be desired, then Edmonton should be the envy of all her sister cities.

But among ourselves, is there not some room for question as to the real grounds for our self-satisfaction?

I am one who has unbound faith in the future of Edmonton. And far from saying or doing anything to check her progress or to injure her prospects.

One who would join with all good and thoughtful citizens to help on her prosperity on substantial and permanent lines.

I venture to say then, that the speculative mania has taken such a strong hold upon so many of the people of Edmonton, and upon so many of the people of Canada generally, and which is resulting in inflating the prices of real estate for buildings, the value of which is in the way of the true development of this city, and is a menace to her future prosperity; and the contractor speculative mania is brought to an end the better it will be for city and for people alike.

With the ethical question as to the propriety of dealing in real estate or in stocks or in anything else I do not propose to deal.

But to do justice to the speculative mania, we must not forget that it is not a bad thing to have an ambition to succeed.

It is a natural desire to have success.

It is a natural desire to have success.
